Editorial

The 11th of September 2001 is a day that has been ingrained in American psyche. It is because of an incidence that took place at the twin towers in New York City, Pentagon building in Virginia, and a wild area near Shanksville, Pennsylvania.

It is popularly held that the three incidences were all executed by a little-known organization that called itself Al-Qaida based in Afghanistan. The word itself is an Arabic word meaning the foundational knowledge.

There has never been any definitive evidence that, in fact, Al-Qaida actually did it. It has been largely nothing but US Government proclamations further propagated worldwide by the US Press, TV Channels, and other propaganda instruments. Interestingly enough, Hollywood has not joined this propaganda tsunami; surprisingly, Hollywood has created some doubt about the believability of this narrative.

USA never tried to prove the narrative in an open court of law. USA did try to make a case in the Military Courts. Even there, USA held hundreds of people just based on suspicion, and never brought up an actual charge against almost any of them even in their own appointed Military Courts; and few that were tried could not be convicted for lack of a substantiality. That is the extent of any basis for all the propaganda that is by now considered to be the “fact”.

On this flimsy bases USA hurried at lightening speed to destroy two entire countries: Afghanistan and Iraq. USA and NATO did not stop at that utterly unconscionable crime against humanity. They continued their crimes against humanity in Libya and Syria.

USA and NATO destroyed everywhere causing economic, social, and human disasters. However, USA and NATO succeeded nowhere!

This utter defeat of USA and NATO has taught them nothing. They have not apologized to the world. They have not compensated for the economic destruction. They have not paid compensation to the victims of their warmongering or their survivors. Having touched the rock bottom of an uncivilized behavior and crimes against humanity, they are still refusing to learn, and are continuing on the same path like a total fool. Indeed, collectively they constitute the biggest and only example of totally devilish mindset.

When the truth has become evident, even the most cunning devil will flee or self-destruct. That is exactly what is in the process in the world affairs. Muslims have prevailed victoriously in Afghanistan and Iraq, thanks to the heroic and highly moral bravery of the Taliban, Iraqis, and Iranians.

In Libya, Turkey has acted decisively and blunted the ongoing aggression.

In Syria, Syrian people, Iran, and Russia have cooperated in a winning strategy.

USA and Europe will no doubt continue to enflame the warmongering, and they will continue to commit atrocities against non-white populations of the World. However, the winds are changing for a more humane world. Indeed, the USA and NATO case was built on untruth and is bound to dissolve into nothingness.

Articles for Muslim Community

The 19

Following are foreign nationals who reportedly died on September 11, 2001, on four flights operated by American Airlines and United Airlines. US Government alleges that they were terrorists who hijacked these airlines. These are mere allegations, and they have not been independently verified. In fact, US Government has not been able to convict a single person allegedly related to it.

Even after Militarily occupying and destroying Afghanistan and Iraq, US Government still does not have evidence to convict a single person accused of terrorism in any court anywhere in the World. And that includes a Kangaroo Court established under US Military rule to facilitate such a conviction.

The case that US Government has claimed against Osama Bin Ladin is even less supportable. Even after total access to all his information, US Government still can produce no factual evidence against him.

American Airlines Flight 11

Mohamed Atta - Egypt

ADL's Apology On NY Islamic Center: “we were wrong, plain and simple”

Anti-Defamation League (ADL) is the evil force that represents Israel to promote its Apartheid State. The only other Apartheid State was the racist state of South Africa that has now been abolished after long sufferings by the nonwhite population, and after it became evident that it, in fact, was counter to human values and human rights under any civilized behavior. Ironically, the state was established by the USA and European gang to train the people into civilization. It was a similarly flawed and willfully evil argument that was used in the establishment of Israel as an apartheid Jewish state.

The Anti-Defamation League issued a statement with respect to Cordoba House in New York City, suggesting that it “would be better if an alternative location was found” for the center, and questioned the “connections, if any, its leaders might have with groups whose ideologies stand in contradiction to our shared values.” Some relatives of 9/11 victims said they found the proposal offensive because the attackers shared the same faith.

Former New York City Mayor Rudy Giuliani called the plan a “desecration” and said that “nobody would allow something like that at Pearl Harbor.” John Bolton, who later worked for the Trump administration, delivered a speech by video during one of the September 2010 protests against Cordoba House and questioned the “true efforts” of the mosque organizers.

Earlier this month, the Anti-Defamation League issued an apology for its opposition.

“Today one can see how the Cordoba House could have helped to heal our country as we nursed the wounds from the horror of 9/11,” said Jonathan A. Greenblatt, ADL’s CEO and national director. “As we near the 20th anniversary of that tragic day, the need for healing remains.”

“It should now embolden the moderates, the people of conscience, and the people that are standing up for true American values,” said Khan. Khan is a visionary behind the Cordoba House: The proposed center that would establish a landmark in bustling New York City where Muslims from across the state and the country could participate in everything from art classes to halal bazaars, sports and educational programming. The 15-story center would include a mosque, a swimming pool, a 500-seat performing arts center and child care facilities.

But others say it’s too little, too late.

The story of Cordoba House is, in many ways, the perfect encapsulation of the last 20 years. While Muslim Americans have made massive strides in politics, pop culture and activism, Islamophobia is still barely contained.

The leading role (directly and indirectly) that ADL played in the whole evil saga with respect to Cordoba House is typical of its support for apartheid policies against Arabs, Palestine, and Muslims in general.

Ultimately, the evil of ADL prevailed, and the Cordoba House project as envisioned never came to be -- with the development primarily becoming another familiar condominium tower.

And ADL acted both ways, as is typical of it. After they succeeded in their sabotage of the Cordoba House Project, ADL found it necessary to offer a pointless apology.

“We can't change the past. But we accept responsibility for our unwise stance on Cordoba House, apologize without caveat and commit to doing our utmost going forward to use our expertise to fight anti-Muslim bias as allies.”

Oh yes, ADL can change the past: ADL can do their utmost to start a mighty campaign, as mighty as it did to destroy the Cordoba house project, to revert the property to the visionaries of the Cordoba House.

But will ADL do it?

How Osama Bin Ladin Changed the World

Osama Bin Laden is propagandized as a terrorist, because that is how US Government wants him to be known, and the biggest propaganda instruments in the world have done their best efforts in that direction.

In reality he is a visionary whose vision is alive and thriving Worldwide. He is a statesman of highest level of intellectualism. His insight into the world events is unparalleled, and his approach to these events is daring and undaunted.

This can easily be understood by his actions and by his writings. USA and NATO bombarded Afghanistan most inhumanely, sparing neither the combatants nor the non-combatants. Disregarding the propaganda about Osama Bin Ladin, one can read his statesmanship and his insight into his actual writings. Some of these writings were captured by USA and NATO during their pillage of Afghanistan and Pakistan. Those documents that were deemed inconsequential from the point of view of USA were declared unclassified for public access. These can be found here containing 4 epics of declassification between May 20, 2015 and November 1, 2017. Washington post has done a detailed exposure of the US blunders, which can be found here revealing a “Secret History of the War”.

Washington post obliquely hints at how Osama Bin Ladin was comparable to a US President in statesmanship and the wisdom of his oratory and the clarity of his vision.

His objectives were very simple and clear. He is a Freedom Fighter on the intellectual grounds. He wants the foreign forces to leave the foreign lands, be it in his homeland of Saudi Arabia, or elsewhere in the world. He is like the Nelson Mandela of South Africa in fighting injustice of Apartheid, Martin Luther King Jr of the Civil Rights advocacy in USA, or Mahatma Gandhi of India as a global advocate for Freedom be it in Africa or India. In some sense Osama Bin Ladin is all of them and some more.

Osama Bin Ladin is a visionary and an intellectual of a status comparable to anyone in the world. At the same time, he is a strategist and activist covering both a long-time action plan as well as strategic maneuvering. He is at the same time a Bishop Tito and a George Washington.

His Prophetic message was clear:

And to America, I stay to it and to its people this:

I swear by God the Great; America will never dream nor those who live in America will ever taste security and safety unless we feel security and safety in our land and in Palestine.

And even after Osama Bin Ladin has died, this Prophetic message remains even more true now than it was when President Bush unwisely sent his Military to invade Afghanistan or when President Obama in his electoral short sightedness sent a Force to kill an Individual who had not been convicted in any court. Osama Bin Laden was larger in real life than either of these US Presidents.

Look at how Osama Bin Ladin has changed the entire USA and also Europe with his wisdom, and using the foolishness of USA and Europe.

1. Neither USA nor Europe have any security nor safety in their homelands. Their towns are afflicted with Fear. Their airports perpetually violate privacy and sanctity of their citizens. Their museums and shopping centers evoke fear with searches and policing. They euphemistically call the situation as “their war on terrorism”. In reality it is a self-inflicted war upon their own citizens that can never end unless they listen to the Prophetic assertion of Osama Bin Ladin.
2. On the world scene USA and Europe have lost influence and prestige. People of the world are unafraid. They do not regard the USA and NATO as capable of achieving anything.
3. The citizens of USA and Europe are increasingly distrustful of their foolish governments who maintain military basis in foreign countries and perpetually send Armed Forces to suppress the citizens of other countries.
4. USA is now virtually two countries: the Republican USA and a Democrat USA. The two USAs do not see eye to eye. The unifying campaign of Abe Lincoln has been brutalized!
5. Arrogant behavior of colonialists like UK and France is causing increased schism among their own citizens and with other civilized people of the world. UK is on the verge of not being a United Kingdom any more. France is tugging its tail between its legs and escaping from Mali and its surrounds.
6. The claims of USA and Europe on the grounds of democracy and human rights are now casually shrugged off by other civilized parts of the world, as invalid and hollow claims.

Osama Bin Ladin has changed the humanity in very intrinsic ways. The global humanity has become more truthful than the corrupt politics of USA and Europe care to admit.

Osama Bin Ladin is becoming more relevant and respected, as the Corruption and Lies of USA and Europe are increasingly being abhorred and their hegemony is increasingly challenged and rendered irrelevant.

Look at the facts. Al Qaida was a tiny idea twenty years before. It has inspired truth loving people around the world: Afghanistan, Iraq, Syria, Libya, Nigeria, Somalia, Morocco, Mali, Mozambique, Chad, Burkina Faso, and Cameroon. France sent its Armed Forces thinking that these countries are the same as during the days of Colonization. But Osama Bin Ladin has now inspired them. Their people prefer to fight than be cowed down by imperialism and hegemonies.

France is now behaving like a coward and withdrawing its Armed Forces. But USA never learns, and is weighing to walk into a fresh trap that will likely be a bigger challenge than Afghanistan.

Osama Bin Ladin is likely smiling!
